DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rose (US 1,100,491) in view of Bakker (US 5,791,780). Rose ('491) discloses a stirrer comprising a circular disc (25,28) having an upper and lower surface, a central bore in an axial direction, and plurality of peripheral angle blade-receiving slits (see page 1, lines 85-94); a shank (22) having a first end and a second end, wherein said second end extends through said central bore to (and beyond) said circular disc and attached to said circular disc; a plurality of flat rectangular blades (26) fixedly disposed within a corresponding blade receiving slit and configured and dimensioned to extend beyond said upper and lower circular disc surfaces in said axial direction, as well as extending outwardly in said peripheral direction away from said disc (see Fig. 4). The device of Rose ('491) would be capable of being used in the manner discussed in the claim. "Expressions relating the apparatus to contents thereof during an intended operation are of no significance in determining patentability of the apparatus claim." Ex parte Thibault, 164 USPQ 666, 667 (Bd. App. 1969). Each of said plurality of blades is integrally formed with said circular disc, each of said plurality of blades is inserted in an inclined way deviating from the disc 40 to 50 degrees from where a radius of the disc intersects the blade in a counted clockwise direction relative to the shank (see Fig. 2). The stirrer of Rose ('491) is not disclosed as being made of stainless steel. Bakker ('780) teaches making a stirrer of stainless steel (see col. 3, lines 63). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have made the stirrer of stainless steel to obtain the corrosion preventing benefit explained in col. 3, lines 62-64 of Bakker ('780).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant argues that, regarding the instant invention, "it is clear that the shank does not extend through the disc". However, this is exact what is being claimed "a shank having a first end and a second end, wherein said second end extends through said central bore".

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
